Mattress Protection for Pet Owners

A common concern of pet owners is how to protect their mattresses from pet “accidents”. Unfortunately, a single staining incident can cause fluid, odor and bacteria to be permanently trapped inside of a mattress, creating an unhealthy sleeping environment and effectively rendering the sleep set useless. In the past, the only solution to avoid mattress staining was to place some sort of vinyl covering or plastic mattress pad on top of the mattress. This provided some protection but was noisy, hot and uncomfortable. Fortunately, modern technology has provided a solution.

Newly developed mattress protectors offer a waterproof barrier that is dust mite and stain resistant. They are made of cotton terry cloth bonded on the reverse side with a polyurethane film that is both breathable and waterproof. These protectors are thin, noiseless and comfortable, and they fit on top of a mattress just like a normal mattress pad. Some mattress protectors even build an extra layer of protection into the cotton terry cloth by adding a non-allergenic, non-carcinogenic, non-toxic and completely safe fabric protector. This fabric protection, combined with the polyurethane film, protects a mattress from beverages, pets, blood, vomit and urine. Mattress protectors are machine washable and most carry a warranty against staining. Some brands even warranty your mattress if the protector should fail, but only when the protector is purchased at the sleep shop as the same time as your new mattress set. Mattress To Go stocks a complete selection of mattress protectors.

Mattress protectors are an affordable solution to an age-old problem. This new product provides mattress stain protection without sacrificing comfort or quality of sleep, allowing us you confidently enjoy quality time with your pets.
